2015 Buffalo Hill Rockpile Vineyard Rockpile Syrah

JEB DUNNUCK

96 + Pts The more limited release, the 2015 Syrah Buffalo Hill Rockpile Vineyard is a dense, concentrated, backward effort that's going to need 2-4 years of bottle age to show at its finest. Blackcurrants, smoked meats, cedarwood, and lead pencil characteristics flow to a powerful, full-bodied, Syrah that has ripe, yet present tannin, integrated acidity, and a huge finish. Backward, dense, yet oh so promising, it's world-class stuff and is going to have two decades of overall longevity.

96 Pts Wine Advocate Deep garnet-purple in color, the 2015 Syrah Buffalo Hill Rockpile Vineyard is a little closed to begin, giving way to a rock-star nose of baked plums, crushed blackcurrants, wild blueberries and violets with touches of espresso, licorice, Sichuan pepper and hoisin plus a hint of rose hip tea. Full-bodied and super concentrated in the mouth with layer upon layer of black fruit and savory flavors, it's framed with firm, grainy tannins and fantastic freshness, finishing long and perfumed.

96 Pts There is no denying the qualifications of this wine as one of the very top Syrahs from California. It is consistent from year to year and the current version boasts concentration, layering, depth and richness that know very few parallels among domestic offerings. Its enticing fillips of dried violets, light spice and rich loam within its long and continuous fruit build to an unusually long, inviting finish, yet, for all of its compelling character, the wine is still a babe in the woods and has only begun to show the brilliance that will continue to emerge over the next decade. It may be pricey, but the best things in life often are and this exceptional offering is worth it.
