2016 Misc Stuff

55% Grenache 30% Syrah 15% Grenache

Sonoma County

JEB DUNNUCK 92 Pts I always love the Misc Stuff cuvée from Cohn and his 2016 is a blend of Grenache, Syrah, and Mourvèdre that saw 40% whole clusters and 18 months in 15% new French oak. Spiced berries, earth, some peppery herbs, and underbrush notes all flow to a medium to full-bodied, ripe, voluptuous effort that has sweet fruit, rounded tannins, and a great finish. Readers looking for a high-quality, pleasure bent, balanced red from California will be hard pressed to do better.

WINE ENTHUSIAST.

92 Pts This is a robust, full-flavored blend of 55% Grenache, 30% Syrah and 15% Mourvèdre, a majority of the wine aged in concrete. Rose-petal and lavender aromas lead to big layers of black licorice, grilled meat, mushroom and strawberry puree, as underlying acidity saves the day.

91 Pts Acting more like a Syrah than it has any right to do, this blend is lifted by aromas of black cherries, dark coffee, licorice and dried bark, and it gives no ground in the mouth where its full body and evident tannins give it a gruff edge that demands several years of bottle age. Its label nomenclature might suggest something less than serious, but the depth and range here say otherwise, and if we are used to the bold and unmistakable purity of this winery's many Rhône bottlings, this effort demonstrates a mastery of the art of the blend as well.
